COLUMBUS, April 19.—Gov. Martin L. Davey said today that assessing of state employees to create a campaign fund "has always been done by political parties and by most of the candidates since this government was founded."

"I am not attempting to argue whether this procedure is right or wrong," he asserted. "The fact is that it has always been done."

Criticizes Sawyer, Bricker

Davey announced candidate for a third term, criticized what he called campaign collection methods of Democratic National Committee-man Charles Sawyer and Former Atty. Gen. John Bricker, a Republican, both of whom have announced as candidates for the governorship.

"If this procedure can properly be called a shakedown," Davey said in a radio address last night, "then it is true that Mr. Bricker shook down his employees in 1936."

(Former Attorney General Bricker was a gubernatorial candidate in 1936.)

With reference to Sawyer, Davey declared:

"Two years ago he solicited campaign contributions from the federal employees in Ohio, a large percentage of whom are under civil service. For the last several months Mr. Sawyer has been very busy making collections from federal employees."

The governor denied that "shakedowns" would collect one and one-quarter million dollars. He said that in 1936 the Democratic committee received "a little over $75,000" as voluntary contributions from state employees."

Warns Civil Service Workers

Meanwhile, State Senator Verner B. Metcalf of Marietta, member of the recent senate graft-hunting committee, made public "an open letter to civil service employees," urging them to "report any solicitation to the civil service board, the attorney general and their prosecuting attorney."

Governor Davey blamed "politics" for a Cuyahoga county grand jury's refusal to indict Lt. Col. Ober, whom the governor had been "very" busy in connection with testimony before the senate graft-hunting committee.

"We are confident that John L. Lewis (leader of the Committee for Industrial Organization) paid Bradley Davey," Davey declared.Drastic Program
For Wheat Is Seen

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Agriculture Adjustment Administration officials said today the nation's wheat farmers faced a drastic control program on next year's crop.

Should the 1938 crop turn out as expected, they said, growers may be called on to reduce plantings of wheat this fall and next spring from 20 to 30 percent below present acreages. In addition, they would be asked to approve marketing quotas to limit sales.

Should this year's crop be as large as now indicated, the surplus of the bread grain, they said, probably would establish a new record of more than 378,000,000 bushels on July 1, 1939, compared with 200,000,000 bushels expected on July 1 this year.

Marketing quotas will not be applied to wheat this year.

quirements

Charles H. Carey post No. 56, American Legion, again this year will sponsor the enrollment of four Salem High school youths in the Boys' State at Columbus, it was disclosed by Commander Virgil Rakestaw at the social meeting of the post Monday night.

Taking of a deposition from Mrs. Bernstein was scheduled to be rescheduled late today, but William Rains, attorney for Coogan, indicated he might not question her further until he gets a court ruling on whether she should answer certain questions about her present child film star.

Taking of a deposition from Mrs. Bernstein was scheduled to be rescheduled late today, but William Rains, attorney for Coogan, indicated he might not question her further until he gets a court ruling on whether she should answer certain questions about her present child film star.

The SWOC has instructed CIO Republic strikers to make out applications for reinstatement at union headquarters announcing that these are to be forwarded to Republic by registered mail.

Although the quota for the Boys' State was filled a month ago, officers of the Salem post succeeded in securing four vacancies which developed later.

Selection of the four boys to attend the program at the state fairgrounds in Columbus, June 21-30, will be made within the next week by Legion officials, following the submission by High School Principal Harold M. Williams of a list of 15 eligible boys.

The Boys' State is a school for teaching government and citizenship and the boys there this summer will operate their mythical state along official lines.

Members of the Legion post last night voted in favor of repairing and redecorating the post home, expenses to aggregate about $1,000.

A committee composed of Charles O. Snyder, Roy Foust and Ernest Monks was named to work with the trustees on the repair program.

Train No. 39, westbound, at 6:50 a. m. is a new train, which will stop to discharge passengers from Harrisburg, Pa., and beyond.

No. 79, westbound, scheduled here at 10:08 a. m. (unchanged) will take on passengers for Ft. Wayne, Ind., and beyond and to discharge passengers from Harrisburg and beyond.

Although the interior of the home will be decorated, the outside painting may be delayed another year.

No. 303, westbound, formerly scheduled at 9:59 a. m. has been changed to 9:14. Other westbound changes are: No. 301, from 3:27 a. m. to 3:57; No. 43, from 11:19 a. m. to 11:04 a. m.; No. 113, from 3:49 p. m. to 3:29; No. 649, from 5:58 p. m. to 6:03; No. 105, from 1:09 a. m. to 12:39 a. m.

Eastbound changes include: No. 302, from 2:42 a. m. to 3:19; No. 54, from 6:43 a. m. to 6:36; No. 648, from 8:48 a. m. to 8:33; No. 118, from 1:59 to 1:54. Others are unchanged.

No. 106 at 5:42 a. m. (unchanged) is a flag stop to discharge passengers from Toledo and Detroit.

No. 54, from 6:43 a. m. to 6:36, also is a flag stop.

No. 52, at 6:44 p. m. (unchanged) is a flag stop to let off passengers from Mansfield and beyond.

The funeral service for Dixon was held this afternoon.

Ohioan Is Robbed

TROY, April 19.—Sheriff Kenneth Miller reported today that G. W. Bancroft, 68, was robbed of $470 late last night by two men who invaded his home and bound him and his housekeeper, Mrs. Esther Davis, 65, with friction tape. Bancroft said one robber was masked and the other wore dark glasses.

Those participating will be Berda, Blosser, Ivan Shank, Delores Bean, Lois Stanley, Elizabeth Lipp, Allen Gross and Jack George.

Mrs. Clay Stackhouse will give a sketch of the life of Miss Elsinger. Mrs. Stackhouse is a director of the Ohio Farm Bureau, District 2.

Bunfield Paroled

Among the 64 Ohio penitentiary prisoners granted paroles today by the state parole board is James Bunfield, sentenced from Columbian county for auto theft. He will be paroled Aug. 31.

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—The Republic Steel corporation, attacking the constitutionality of the Wagner act, had before the U. S. circuit court of appeals today a challenge to a labor board order that it reinstate 5,000 steel workers who participated in a strike in its five Ohio plants last summer.

The order of the board decreeing reinstatement of the strikers permits the "delegation of judicial and legislative power to an administrative body," said the appeal petition signed by Tom M. Girdler, Republic chairman.

No Date For Hearing

The court permitted the company to file the appeal yesterday but it took no action on Republic's request to restrain the labor board from enforcing its reinstatement order. No date for a hearing was set.

The board declared in a decision April 8 that the corporation had violated the Wagner act on eight counts before and during the "Little Steel" strike and directed it to break up employee representation plans in all five Ohio plants.

The plants are at Massillon, Canton, Youngstown, Warren and Niles.

The corporation's petition claimed the board allowed "incompetent, immaterial and hearsay evidence" to be introduced on behalf of the members of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee.

No Effect On Policy

A formal Republic statement, issued at Cleveland, said the appeal "does not affect the general policy of the company—that the company desires to see all men back at work who have not been guilty of violence or illegal acts."

The statement added that "such reemployment should not interfere with orderly operations or the rights of other employees and should be effected through normal procedure. Republic's normal procedure for hiring or reemployment of men is and always has been for the men to go personally to the plant's employment department and make application there."

The SWOC has instructed CIO Republic strikers to make out applications for reinstatement at union headquarters announcing that these are to be forwarded to Republic by registered mail.

HEALTHY SKEPTICISM

Healthy skepticism about pump priming will help, not hinder, the possibility of real recovery.

Real recovery is not probable, only possible, under the administration's lending-spending plan. Real recovery will come when the relatively slight stimulus potential in the latest move is augmented by resumption of private capital activity. That can't be denied. Government can't do the recovery job itself. When it is ready to face all the implications of that fact, real recovery may be expected.

As Walter Lippmann said last Saturday, "unless the greatest obstacles to private enterprise are removed, we shall soon see that the President has led business to the springs of credit but that he cannot make the horse drink."

The horse will drink when he's not afraid to put his nose into the water. That will be when fears which have been planted in private enterprise by a sometimes hostile and a sometimes confused government are removed by corrective congressional action, either with or without the President's sanction.

Real recovery will come that way. The President's lending-spending plan by itself won't be effective without further steps to restore the confidence of private capitalism—or as Vice President Garner put it, letting the cattle fatten up before starting to chivv 'em again.

SO THEY MADE A PACT

A vital step in Europe's adjustment to the rotations of the Rome-Berlin axis is the pact initiated by representatives of the British and Italian governments.

The odd thing about it is, of course, that Italy is one of the parties—Italy, which is on the south end of the axis which boasts Adolf Hitler at the north end. Premier Mussolini doesn't have the reputation of the continent's shrewdest statesman for nothing.

The value of the pact, unfortunately, cannot even be estimated for the simple reason that it has no value, except to the extent that it will be observed. At a time when pacts are being dropped into convenient wastebaskets, creation of another one scarcely is a blood stirring event.

Great Britain and Italy had a gentleman's agreement which was not kept. The inference is that a pact, properly signed, will make gentlemen where before were only realists. That remains to be seen. Prime Minister Chamberlain has paired his Duce but it's up to the Duce to decide whether or not to be wild.

CITY PLANNING AND REGIMENTATION

This isn't an important discovery, nor even a profound speculation, concerning the things which help regimentation. Certainly, it isn't a criticism of city planning.

But it may be observed in all newsreels and still pictures of the mass demonstrations staged so frequently by dictatorships that they make excellent use of the huge squares and plazas which are a feature of many European cities.

The first gathering of this kind staged by Nazis in Austria placed 8,500 gooseneckers in the Heroes' plaza in Vienna. There easily was room for four times that many without crowding.

When the Ku Klux Klan was going strong in this part of the country some years ago, its conclaves were held in remote open fields and fairgrounds usually. It wasn't entirely because permission couldn't be obtained to hold them inside municipalities, but chiefly because there were so few adequate places to mass human beings.

It's a circumstance which suggests that city planning, which stresses the importance of great open spaces in the hearts of cities, is a great break for the exploiters of man's notorious weakness for being carried away by mass psychology.

HISTORY MADE BY STEAMSHIP 100 YEARS AGO

WASHINGTON—Steamship passenger service across the Atlantic was inaugurated 100 years ago this month.

By coincidence, two British ships steamed into New York harbor on the same day—April 23, 1833, just 100 years ago—to begin steamship service that has continued almost uninterrupted ever since.

The vessels, the Sirius from Cork and the Great Western from Bristol, left their home ports four days apart and unknowingly engaged in the first trans-Atlantic steamship race.

The Sirius, no larger than a harbor tug and never built for ocean travel, puffed into New York harbor first, surprising the harbor men who previously had regarded such crossings only as stunts. As soon as the news spread through the city, New Yorkers jammed the docks in a welcome that rivaled those accorded trans-Atlantic fliers nearly a century later.

Big Day for New York

The Great Western docked a few hours later—also unexpectedly—to turn the occasion into the most exciting day New Yorkers had seen since the War of 1812, according to the Smithsonian Institution.

Great Western crew members were disappointed to learn they had been beaten by hours, but were consoled by the fact their ship had left the British Isles four days later.

The Great Western, which made its initial crossing with seven passengers, was built as the result of a sarcastic suggestion that the Great Western Railway of England be extended to America.

Although the Sirius was the first steamship to carry passengers across

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, April 20

According to the planetary configurations on this day, there are promises of good fortune to exhilarate and give tone to high ambitions and secret desires. All pertaining to employment, promotion, honors, favors and tokens of preferment are under excellent promise, particularly where there are literary, cultural and spiritual aspirations at the core of such objectives.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year of fruition of very definite ambitions in employment. Persons in important positions may be approached with confidence for favors. Literary, artistic and educational aspirations are involved, and, with application and industry, these may take one far to happiness and renown.

A child born on this day may be abundantly endowed with all the factors for a successful, happy and possibly conspicuous life. Its varied talents and the fine quality of its ambitions should take it far in popularity, security and high station.

It's a circumstance which suggests that city planning, which stresses the importance of great open spaces in the hearts of cities, is a great break for the exploiters of man's notorious weakness for being carried away by mass psychology.

But it may be observed in all newsreels and still pictures of the mass demonstrations staged so frequently by dictatorships that they make excellent use of the huge squares and plazas which are a feature of many European cities.

The first gathering of this kind staged by Nazis in Austria placed 8,500 gooseneckers in the Heroes' plaza in Vienna. There easily was room for four times that many without crowding.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland,
New York City.

MALARIA

THERE IS a pretty general but mistaken belief that malaria no longer exists in this country. It is true that it is not as prevalent as in former years, but to say the disease has been completely wiped out is a bit too optimistic a statement.

Malaria thrives where well recognized measures of prevention are not enforced. Since it is transmitted by the bite of a mosquito known as the "anopheline," if the disease is to be controlled this mosquito must be destroyed.

The anopheline mosquito breeds in swampy lands and stagnant waters. To guard against malaria there must be destruction of these breeding places.

The progress of civilization always brings new problems. Public health officials must be alert, even to the possible evils of new inventions. They have discovered a menace in the far-flung journeys of the airplane, with the possibility of its carrying malarial mosquitoes from malaria-infested countries. This presents a modern source of infection and one too important to overlook. Precautions are now being taken by the health authorities where foreign planes land.

Malaria Control

Continued enforcement of the measures to control the breeding places of the anopheline mosquito are just as important as ever. If you live where malaria sometimes occurs, it is best to screen your house and carefully guard against these pests.

When I was a medical student malaria was quite prevalent. It was not uncommon to see several cases of the disease in a ward of any large hospital. While rarely met today, it is important to be ever on guard against the disease and to detect it as soon as possible.

The victim of the disease usually presents symptoms within two to 30 days after the bite of the anopheline mosquito. Chief signs of the disease are chill, fever and profuse sweating. First, there is the chill which is followed by fever, perhaps as high as 106 degrees.

In a severe case the patient may actually become delirious. Convulsions sometimes complicate the picture. Within an hour or so after the rise of fever the patient sweats profusely and then the temperature begins to drop. This cycle repeats.

The victim of malaria should be kept by himself and adequate measures must be taken to prevent the spread of the disease to others.

Owing to pressure of other business Dr. Copeland cannot answer questions from readers.

CHAPTER XXXI
In lower nine, Marie was confined with the morning's arrival in Los Angeles. She anticipated every event long before it occurred, and planned every detail of the life she hoped to create. She now consulted her husband. "What shall I wear in the morning?" "The purple crepe is so soiled and ruined. I'm afraid. I doubt it will dry clean, even. The beige suit is just as bad, from wearing today in the terrible heat and sun. Do you suppose I should wear lace in the morning? It's pretty dressy, but I do want to make a good impression on Aunt May and Uncle Mack. You know, I have a big estate in California. Do you suppose they will send chauffeur to meet us, or come to the station? I wish I knew what to do."

"How do I know what your relatives might do?" He was not optimistic.

"Harry dear—she chided. "Well do I know even what you are going to do next? I do not keep me on the jump like poppies on a hot stove. I'll be glad when we get back home and into old rut again."

"Why, aren't you having a bad time?" her voice was almost apologetic.

"Not so hot. Oh, yes, it's plenty all right—but like a furnace. Most of the people on this train are a bunch of highhats, if you ask me, not people!" he snorted. "If they're the best ones, I don't care who's playing around with the first. The men won't talk more than a few words at a time. Rushed as if they had something important to do. Even that porter was over my head as if he didn't care, or through me as if I wasn't there. If he expects a general tip from me, he has a surprise coming to him!"

"Oh, but Harry, you will have to give him a good tip to keep up our reputation." Marie reminded him.

"We are supposed to have plenty of money, traveling on an extra train."

"Reputation with who?" Harry demanded.

Marie ignored the grammatical error in her greater concern for the need of convincing Harry of the importance of their reputation.

"Why—everyone. It's the principle of the thing," vaguely.

"Principle nothing! Who'll know how much I tip the porter, after we leave the train? We'll never see him again, or anyone else on this train, probably; and you won't catch me crying about it, either."

"But, Harry, you don't understand," she implored sweetly.

"I don't say that again! I've said it enough. Anyone would think you spoke a foreign language, the way you say that to me. All I know is, you've got to drop a lot of fool notions if you're going to be my wife."

"Why—I am your wife, now."

"Sure. And that's just why you're going to change some of your ideas. I'm the boss in this family, Marie, and it's right that I should be. Didn't you promise to love and obey me when we were married the other night?"

"Of course," she laughed. "So did you promise to obey me?"

"Oh, well, that doesn't mean anything. It's just to balance the ceremony, make the same number of words in each sentence, or something foolish. It's all a form. But it was meant that the man should be the boss in every family—that is, all real men. Don't you think I'm a real man, honey?"

"Sure I do," she agreed readily, and snuggled close to him in the clamorous darkness. Marie was simple and gay and submissive. Nothing ever troubled her deeply or for long. A word or a gesture could dismiss any doubts of the moment for her. And it was just as well, if she expected to keep her contract for loving and obeying Harry Bortin until death parted them.

A robed figure swayed down the curtains and sat down on the aisle and stopped at lower 3, parted the curtains and sat down on the edge of the berth. Gaines set his bag in the far corner, meticulously arranged his clothes on the swaying hangers, set his shoes just under the edge of the curtain where they could be found by the porter and shined, and buttoned the curtains from the inside. Then he paced up and down the aisle, assured himself that no one was watching, lifted the curtains from below and stepped out into the aisle. He glanced around again and reached over to part the curtains of lower 2, and disappeared with-in.

He swung himself into the berth. It was dark and he reached out his hand cautiously. No one was there! Was it possible that Clarice had not come in yet? He thought he had allowed her ample time. Well, he would have to teach her to be more prompt, he smiled to himself. Of course, beautiful women always did consume hours in dressing and undressing. And Clarice was glorifying herself for her lover. But this delay was inexcusable. Perhaps she had delayed for a while just to annoy him. Well, she was worth waiting an hour for—two. He would leave the curtains open. She would be in soon, now.

He lay in patient anticipation, content with the course of events, thus far. Life was going to be pretty good for him. The wheels clicked faster in a sudden frenzy of speed, the car lurched, jerked to and fro. His body adjusted itself to the new motion. But it was pretty comfortable, after all. He had resolved many years ago that he would be cold to afford the best some day. He had done it. Click-click, clatter, thud, crack, squeak! His eyes closed with satisfied content, awaiting Clarice.

And Clarice lay rigidly in the darkness of the upper berth, striving to readjust her confused thoughts, reconciling herself to this sudden turn of events. For some reason which she could not explain, a benevolent providence guided her on this strange journey.

She had anticipated that it would be exciting, but never in her most fantastic dreams had she imagined anything to compare with this!

The train raced, the hours dragged. A hundred souls slept on, confidently safe in the clutch of a thousand dangers. If any of those aboard lay awake, they were thinking and planning for the morrow—next week—next year. One of those who did not sleep that night was Kirby Elliott. He lay in his upper berth awake and fully dressed. His curtains were buttoned, but he had arranged them so that he could peer out into the car often without being seen.

Another wide-awake passenger was Clarice. She was much too excited and bewildered for sleep. She lay staring into the darkness at the concave ceiling—in Yola Renee's dressing room. The fact was almost unbelievable. In the lower berth slept the most famous movie actress in the world, and on the couch across the little room slept her maid. Collette had been quite astonished as Clarice at her mistress' sudden interest in the lit-

He waited, taut with apprehension, a cold perspiration covering him from head to foot.

Where could Clarice be? What had she done? It was evident that she had either decided not to surrender to him, or had served as a tool for a more sinister purpose. But where could she have gone? Surely she could not admit to any of these passengers that she had given a strange man permission to share her berth, and appeal to him for protection. Far better to have come to him and explained that she could not go on with it.

At any rate, something was certainly queer, and he had to manage to get back where he belonged. He need not fear any accusation she might make against him so long as he was in his right place. He almost held his breath while it was now on his right.

Then he remembered, with a start. He was not in his own berth. He was on the opposite side of the car—in Clarice's berth. But where was she? He looked at his watch in the light which shone in from the station. Two-thirty! Something was queer.

Footsteps. A swishing sound, as of someone passing through the aisle. The curtains moved. In a panic he saw that they were not buttoned. He reached out quickly and held them together. No use to button them now. As soon as the train started again, and everyone had settled back to sleep, he would slip over into his own berth.

he waited for the train to start. Must be the longest stop on the whole trip. The minutes dragged.

Food and Drug Safeguarding Is Discussed By Book Club

A program on "Safeguarding Our Food and Drugs" was presented at a regular meeting of the Salem Book club in the library assembly room yesterday afternoon.

Roll call was "Home Remedies". Mrs. Ralph Snyder gave a paper on "The Work of the Consumers' Research", followed by one on "Recent Legislation on Food and Drugs", by Mrs. Donald Cobb.

Mrs. Ada Hawkins gave a delightful review of the book "Eat,

Eastern Stars Attend Leetonia Meeting

Twelve members of Salem chapter No. 334, Order of Eastern Star attended a regular meeting of Leetonia chapter last night. The Salem group included Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Johnson, formerly of Leetonia, and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Jenkins of Winona.

East Palestine presented the candidates and was in charge of the vocal and instrumental music.

At the close of the meeting the Leetonia past worthy matrons and patrons presented the chapter a new white satin altar cloth and beautiful white Bible inscribed in gold. Lester Fisher gave the cloth and Bible to Mrs. Lawrence Berg, present worthy matron, who responded for the members.

Mrs. Fisher, accompanied at the piano by her daughter, Carol, entertained with a vocal selection.

The room was decorated with roses, snapdragons, lilies and cherry blossoms. Lunch was served at tables decorated with jonquils, daffodils and white narcissus.

Salem chapter will have initiation after a coverdinner at 6 p. m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Frank Bruderly Class Hostess

The Helen Bruderly class of the Baptist church met last night at the home of Mrs. Frank Bruderly, Benton rd.

Mrs. Paul West gave a paper on "The Old Testament Confirmed" and Mrs. Wilbur West one on "How to Study the Bible." Roll call response was Bible verses.

Open discussion of topics of interest was held. A committee was appointed to arrange the date and place for the church Mother-Daughter banquet to be held in May. Mrs. Arnold Seeds and Mrs. Wilbur West are chairmen.

Games, contests and a lunch were concluding features of the meeting.

The next meeting will be a coverdinner session on May 9 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Seeds, Park ave.

Past Noble Grands Plan Program

An interesting program has been planned for Past Noble Grands of the Rebekah lodge at their meeting Wednesday evening in the hall. A coverdinner at 6:30 will be followed by a program of stunts and special features.

Mrs. G. H. Mounts and Miss Phila M. Field will be in charge of the stunts. Every member is requested to attend.

Birthday Anniversary Fete at Leetonia

Mrs. Hugh Gleckler of Leetonia entertained friends last night at her home at a dinner party honoring the birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. Blanche Hileman, of Leetonia.

Spring flowers decorated the attractively appointed table. Several Salem friends attended the affair.

June Wedding Date Set By Couple

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Eleanor Elizabeth Jones, daughter of Mrs. David Mark Jones of the Damascus rd., to Louis Cobau Mather, son of Mrs. Louis Brown of New Castle, Pa.

The wedding will be early in June.

Convene Wednesday

Dames of Malta will meet at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the hall. All members are asked to attend.

Campfire Girls To Have Hike

Awakiya Campfire Girls will enjoy a hike after the regular meeting Monday afternoon if the weather is favorable. The girls will hold a benefit on the remaining Wednesdays and Saturdays of this month.

Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses have been issued at Lisbon to Edward R. Lottman of R. D. 2, Salem, and Thelma A. Cox of Lisbon; Kenneth P. Burt and Rose A. Buchheit of East Liverpool; Charles Elmer Ramsey of Youngstown and Madelyne Lee Kohler, Salem.

Women to Meet

An important meeting of the Presbyterian Women's Association will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in the chapel. Every member is to be present.

James Scullion, Olmsted Falls and Miss Dorothy Lister of Lakewood spent a few days last week at the home of his mother, Mrs. Blanche Scullion, West Eighth st.

C. E. Cordrey of Lakewood, Mrs. Viola Grimm and son Donald of Cleveland, Clifford Sollinger and daughters Iris and Betty Mae of Syracuse, N. Y. spent Easter Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Andrews.

Miss Mary Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Walker attended the Cleveland-St. Louis baseball game in Cleveland today.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kuhl and Mrs. Blanche Scullion were guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Schill, Elwood City, Pa.

Fashion Authority Will Hold Show and Clinic Tomorrow

Miss Marlyn Dearing, style and fashion authority and representative of the Simplicity League of Amateur Designers, will present a style show and clinic at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the McCullough store.

Miss Dearing's first demonstration was given today before a large audience.

While different programs are given each day, Miss Dearing illustrates the points stressed in her talks with living models. Today's topic was "Style and Charm", revealing secrets of developing a distinctive individuality in clothes.

Wednesday afternoon the fashion expert will discuss "Color and Charm", emphasizing the point that personality can be enhanced through proper adaptation of color.

Children's frocks as well as women's will be seen in the show.

The clinic and show are open to the public. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Miss Dearing also will speak on budget wardrobes, pointing out that home seamstresses may have more extensive, attractive and economical wardrobes than the woman who buys ready-made garments which may, or may not, be suitable for her.

Social Events in Lisbon

Miss Mary Jenkins and Charles Carlisle, both of Lisbon, were married Sunday following Easter services at the Methodist church by Rev. C. W. Kennedy. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jenkins, West Washington st. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Carlisle, Lisbon. Both are graduates of Lisbon High school.

Miss Anna Myers will speak at a meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon. Reports from the secretary and treasurer of the group also will be made at the meeting.

Mrs. Ray Klingaman will be the recipient of a handkerchief shower at St. Jacob's Reformed church on the Salem road Friday evening. Mrs. Klingaman will leave shortly to join her husband who recently accepted a pastorate at Kenton.

PERSONALS

Scout Executive Charles E. Felton is confined to his home here with a throat infection.

Mr. and Mrs. George Case visited Pittsburgh friends over the weekend.

Miss Julia Graft, a tourist, was treated at the East Lincoln Way nursing home Sunday when she became ill while driving through Lisbon enroute to Chambersburg, Pa.

Members endorsed a move to place a proposed amendment to the Ohio constitution on the ballot next November, substituting appointment of supreme and appellate court judges for election. The proposal does not affect common pleases judges who are elected.

The association was advised that the state highway department expects to convert the site of the first curthouse in Columbian county on Route No. 7 to a roadside park. Members have been interested in permanently identifying the site.

COLUMBIANA

At the meeting of the Columbian Rotary club Monday evening at Valley golf links, E. T. Coyle gave a talk about his recent trip to Mexico, dwelling particularly on a description of Mexico City.

H. A. Tuttle and Gerald Hayes, Youngstown, were visitors at the meeting. A number of local Rotarians and their wives are planning to attend the annual district Rotary conference to be held Thursday and Friday at the Hotel Statler, Cleveland.

President-elect Edgar Miller will be the delegate of the local club. Miss Mildred I. Schneebelen, Columbian, daughter of Mrs. Bessie Schneebelen, Lisbon, was uniting in marriage Saturday at 8 p. m. with James L. Johnson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Johnson, East Palestine. The ceremony took place at the home of Rev. G. A. Funk, pastor of the local Christian church, who used the single ring ceremony.

The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Dantan Hutton, Lisbon. Mrs. Johnson is a graduate of Columbian High school and Mr. Johnson of East Palestine High school. They will make their home at 49½ South Market st., East Palestine, where Mr. Johnson is employed as a salesman with the Taylor Appliance Co.

Next Sunday evening the union service will be held in the Christian church at 7:30. The service will feature music by a colored choir from the Wellsville A. M. E. Zion church, directed by Emmons Payne.

Mother of Actress Weds Her Manager

HOLLYWOOD, April 19—Martha Raye's mother and business manager, who figured in two suits over lost love, disclosed today they have been married a month.

"Yes, we are married and very happy," said Mrs. Peter Bauman, the former Maybelle Hooper Reed.

The wedding took place at Phoenix, Ariz., March 17, a few days after Mrs. Reed obtained a final divorce from Peter F. Reed, father of the film comedienne.

Reed has filed suit for $150,000 damages against Bauman, charging Mrs. Reed's affections were stolen. Bauman has also been sued for $50,000 by Nancy C. Dixon, 20-year-old stenographer, who claimed he broke his promise to marry her.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kuhl and Mrs. Blanche Scullion were guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Schill, Elwood City, Pa.

Russia Builds NEW RAILROADS

"Lifelines" Criss - Cross Soviet Domain, Preparing for Next War

The new railway is designed to be an independent supply line for the red army in the orient, and its tracks are believed to lie some 200 miles or more north of the trans-Siberian.

For several years a stream of trains has been running eastward along the old trunk line carrying materials and men for the Baikal-Amur. Doubletracking of the trans-Siberian along the 1,320-mile stretch from Karymskaya to Habarovsk has hastened work on the Baikal-Amur.

This doubletracking, incidentally, does not mean parallel ribbons of steel on one roadbed. In some places the tracks are so far apart that trains on one cannot be seen from the other.

The 150-mile line to the Mongolian border also is vitally connected with the strategical situation in the far east. It will connect Siberian defense centers much more closely with outer Mongolia, which Joseph Stalin has said Russia would fight to defend.

The 35,000-mile Russian system inherited from the Czarist regime has been expanded to some 52,000 miles, but its efficiency has been disappointing. The daily average of carloadings has risen from the 50,000 of a few years ago to nearly 80,000, but is still short of the 85,000 of the latest five-year plan. Rolling stock shortage is one reason.

The State will feature a new comedy "My Dear Miss Aldrich" with Maureen O'Sullivan, Walter Pidgeon and Edna May Oliver, on a Wednesday only bill.

Rita Johnson and Janet Beecher also have featured roles in the picture.

Theater Attractions

Edna May Oliver, Maureen O'Sullivan and Walter Pidgeon in a scene from "My Dear Miss Aldrich" the Wednesday-only feature at the State.

"Yank at Oxford," plays the owner with Walter Pidgeon, the Broadway star, as the managing editor. As a result of his superior work in this role, Pidgeon has just been signed on a long-term contract.

Edna May Oliver is a puzzle addict who provides hilarious comedy in the most humorous role of her long career. J. Farrell MacDonald, veteran character star, is the city editor, with ready wit and keen understanding. Janet Beecher, another screen and stage veteran, appears as a militant feminist.

"Snow White" Concludes

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" will conclude a five-day showing at the State tonight.

A double bill is scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday at the Grand.

The first film is an adventure story, "Adventure's End," featuring John Wayne and Diana Gibson. The other picture is a mystery, "The Black Doll," with Nan Grey and Donald Woods in the leading roles. Katharine Hepburn and Cary Grant in "Bringing Up Baby" will be seen at the Grand for the last times tonight.

YANKS' OPENING DEFEAT CHEERS RIVAL CLUBS

BOWLING RESULTS

The American league's round-robin tournament was sifted down to three teams at the Masonic temple alleys last night as Mullins Press-room and Reich Sports were eliminated from the event.

The Pressroom suffered its second defeat by losing to the Champion Ohio Edison team, 2607 to 2245, while Reich's Sports were handed their second loss by Mullins Foremen, 2411 to 2371.

Teams remaining in the tourney are Masons with three wins, Mullins Foremen with three wins, and Ohio Edison with two wins and one loss. The Masons were idle last night.

Competition for first place in the Quaker City league became closer at the Grate alleys last night as the leading Colonial Billiards team lost two out of three games to the Dynashift Buckles.

The defeats cut the Billiards' lead over the Golden Eagle to two games. The Golden Eagle team, which is in second place, won two out of three from the Salem Motor in its match last night.

HOST OF HIGH SCHOOL STARS VIE IN MEETS

Spring Athletic Events Attract Some 5,000 Competitors

COLUMBUS, April 19.—Ohio's high school athletic legions move into action on four fronts the weekends of May 14 and May 21, district qualifiers for the state tournaments being scheduled in 40 towns and cities in track, baseball, golf and tennis.

H. R. Townsend, High school commissioner, said today he expected more than 5,000 scholastic stars to enter the preliminary rounds in hopes of dethroning Sandusky and Upper Arlington as track champions; Canton McKinley and Holgate as baseball kings; Jack Kidwell and his Columbus Central mates as golf titleholders, and Aramini of Cincinnati Purcell and Kohl-Brown of Dayton Fairview as the tennis rulers.

The leading athletes in the district meets will converge on Columbus May 27-28 for the annual state tournaments in all four sports. Townsend lined up 11 district track meets, 13 baseball tournaments, and eight golf and tennis events as qualifiers for the championships. The dates and scenes of the district meets:

Track: May 14 at Delaware, Urichsville and Athens; May 21 at Cleveland, Mentor, Salem, Poland, Fremont, Toledo, Springfield and Cincinnati.

Baseball: May 13-14 at Columbus, Martins Ferry, Kent, Kenton, Tiffin, Defiance, Dayton and Cincinnati; May 20-21 at Columbus, Kent, Toledo and Oxford. Two other baseball centers in the northeastern district will be arranged for Class A teams, probably at Akron and Youngstown, Townsend said.

(Pinch-hitting for Eddie Brietz.)

NEW YORK, April 19.—Maybe the Cubs' brain trust is going to have a new worry on its hands if that old Dean-Carleton feed pops up again. . . . Couple of years ago, when the Cards traded Carleton to the Cubs, everybody said 'was done' because Diz didn't get along with Tex. . . . Now they're back together again . . . and, as Dick Freeman of the Houston Chronicle writes: "Needed—one peacemaker."

Today's the day the mortality rate on office boys' grandmothers jumps sky high. . . . And they'll all have to take the day off to see the old ladies. . . . hit batters at their favorite ball parks. . . . So Lefty Gomez, who didn't get the call to pitch the opener, has a chance to win the first one for the Yanks. . . . And Connie Mack has a chance to back up his hitting with something in the way of pitching—which the A's didn't show yesterday. . . . Yanks can't get over the stuff young Jim Bagby revealed in his first major league start for the Red Sox. . . .

Frank Thomas please note: They are tabbing Sam Fox at Ohio State as one of the best pass receivers since Larry Kelley. . . . And it seems he passed up Alabama for the Buckeyes. . . . As reported here two weeks ago, Two-Ton Tony Galento is first in line to follow the circus into Madison Square Garden. . . . But when last heard from, the Newark nightstick was suspended in New York for training on beer and spaghetti. . . . So it's up to the athletic commissioners to oblige. . . . Don't look now, but Schoolboy Rowe's arm is going lots better since the Tigers came north. . . .

ACT TO REDUCE SHIPPING LOSS

Manufacturers, Receivers, Railroads
And Express Companies Co-operate In Movement

In an effort to reduce loss and damage to freight shipments, the month of April is being observed as "Perfect Shipping Month" under the sponsorship of the 13 Shippers' Regional Advisory boards which extend throughout the United States and have a membership of 25,000 shippers representing all of the principal industries.

Claims for loss and damage to freight shipments amounting to $24,281,819 were paid by the railroads in 1937. This was a reduction of about $95,500,000 compared with 1920, when such claims paid by the railroads totaled $119,833,127. Total claims paid in 1937, indicate an increase of $3,461,332 or 16.5 per cent compared with 1936. Freight loss and damage payments per car loaded with revenue freight averaged 64 cents in 1937, compared with 58 cents in 1936 and $2.66 in 1920.

In this nation-wide drive, the shippers of this country, in cooperation with receivers of freight, the railroads and the express companies, hope to bring about improvements in methods of packing, loading and transporting freight, which will result in a reduction in the amount of loss and damage claims.

Bargains are plentiful. The ads. will tell you where.

LEETONIA HAS 'CLEAN-UP WEEK'

Village Trucks Hauling Away Debris Collected by Citizens

LEETONIA, April 19.—The present week has been designated by the village council as clean-up week. All citizens are urged to make a survey of their property and collect all rubbish except ashes. The containers are to be placed along the street so they can conveniently be collected and removed by the village truck.

The Ruth Bible class of the Methodist Episcopal church met Monday evening.

The attendance at St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday school was 324, with over $40 collection. The money goes to the building fund.

Seventeen were received into membership. Three adults and nine children were baptized during the Easter season by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Grohne.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hurlein, of Pittsburgh were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Dean Weikart.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morbito of East Liverpool were weekend guests of Mrs. Morbito's mother, Mrs. Mary Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Warner and daughter, Miss Louise and Mrs. Louisa Hughey of Aliquippa, Pa., were Sunday guests of Mrs. Hughey's brother, W. P. Wilhelm and family.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kyser and sons Glenn and Robert of Warren were weekend guests of Mrs. Kyser's father, U. L. Metz.

Dean Gets New Job And Asks for Raise

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—Dizzy Dean, the $270,000 pitching beauty acquired by the Chicago Cubs, has asked for a raise, Owner Phil K. Wrigley said today.

Wrigley said: "I have instructed my assistants at Chicago to tell Dean that if he pitches winning ball this season he will be treated well by the management in regard to his compensation. However, we are taking over the contract just as he agreed when he signed up with the St. Louis Cardinals this year.

"Dean's demands for a new contract with the Cubs center upon several bonus clauses he made with the Cardinals. These matters I will straighten out with Dean when I arrive in Chicago later this month."

Dean's 1938 contract is reported to call for about $15,000, some $10,000 less than he received last season.

Non-Military Fund Is Sought In House

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The house appropriations committee asked congress today to appropriate $220,634,725 for non-military activities of the war department for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

This total, which includes $37,000,000 President Roosevelt suggested in a relief message last week for flood control, is $23,618,838 above the estimates prepared four months ago by the budget bureau and $25,098,662 more than for the current year.

The bill carries $94,300,000 for general river and harbor work, compared with $128,000,000 this year; $113,000,000 for flood control projects, compared with $105,000,000 this year, and $10,250,125 for the Panama Canal, $323,635 less than for this year.

Although the total is more than $25,000,000 above the 1938 appropriation, the war department this year was given $52,000,000 in relief funds, making the funds available for 1938 actually $26,401,338 more than the bill proposes for the next year.

The committee recommended that $31,000,000 of the flood control appropriation be spent on the Mississippi river and its tributaries. The army engineers were given $45,000,000 for that purpose this year, but the total included $22,500,000 of relief money.

Rivers and Harbors Program Outlined

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The house appropriations committee proposed today congress give the army engineers $94,300,000 for construction and maintenance of rivers and harbors projects throughout the country in the year starting next July 1.

The committee approved without change budget recommendations for a $37,50,000,000 appropriation for maintenance of existing projects and $32,800,000 for New York. In addition, it proposed increasing allocations for new work up to a total of $24,000,000, to be re-appropriated from unobligated balances of current appropriations.

Appropriations proposed for new work included:

Harbors and channels—Ohio—Ashtabula harbor $360,000; Cleveland harbor $270,000; Conneaut harbor $543,000; Fairport harbor $278,000; Lorain harbor $172,000; Put-In-Bay $60,000; Rocky River harbor $48,000.

Inland waterways—Ohio river locks and dams $100,000; Allegheny river $150,000; Monongahela river, Pa., and W. Va. $45,000; Tygart reservoir, W. Va., $307,000; Kanawha river, W. Va., $1,132,540.

Fisher Body Plant Operations Halted

FLINT, Mich., April 19.—Fisher body plant No. 1 suspended operations at 8 a. m. today when the management announced that it was unable to muster a large enough working force to man the assembly line.

The plant has been employing about 3,700 workers. It supplies bodies for Buick Motor Co. Both firms are units of General Motors corporation.

A few units were successful this morning in getting into the plant after fighting their way through a picket line composed of approximately 1,200 members of the United Auto Workers union. The picketing was a continuation of a union dues collecting campaign which the Fisher management blamed for a one-day shut-down yesterday.

The Buick assembly line, which closed yesterday because of lack of automobile bodies, was unable to operate today.

The Buick and Chevrolet divisions of the UAW will take strike votes Wednesday. Grievances included alleged violations of seniority rights, charges of discrimination in re-hiring and difficulty in arranging discussions of grievances.

150 Witness Iowa's Double Execution

FORT MADISON, Ia., April 19.—Stoically calm to the last, Franz A. Jacobsen, 30, and Mario Heinz, 32, dropped to death through the twin traps of Iowa State penitentiary's gallows a few seconds after 5:30 a. m. today.

A crowd of 150 persons jammed the prison stockade as the pair plucked to death.

It was the second double hanging in Iowa this year.

Jacobsen, an Ottumwa and Davenport, Ia., chef, died for the murder of Catherine Leahy, Ottumwa waitress. Three of the dead girl's relatives saw him twitch in death agony. Heinz, former Dubuque, Ia., relief worker, was hanged for the murder of David Fox, his six-year-old nephew.

Neither condemned man showed any trace of emotion as they faced the witnesses from the gallows platform. Neither made a final statement. There was only one woman among the witnesses.

Six In Liquor Case Petition For Trials

COVINGTON, Ky., April 19.—Six residents of Pittsburgh and Steubenville, convicted last week in Columbus on charges involving violation of the liquor tax act, petitioned the sixth U. S. circuit court of appeals today for new trials.

The six were Patrick Traficani, Joseph C. Ross, Sam Brushome and Peter Albenze of Pittsburgh, and John De Cara and Adam Martello of Steubenville.

Traficani, De Cara and Martello are out on bond.

Clear Up Lawn

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Thirty men worked all night to clean the White House lawn after 44,166 children and adults took part yesterday in the annual Easter egg rolling at the executive mansion. Intermittent rain kept the attendance 9,000 below last year's record.

TROLLEY CHIEF ASKS POLICE AID

Spurns Columbus Mayor's Proposal Strike Be Arbitrated

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, April 19.—The Columbus &amp; Southern Ohio Electric Co. spurned Mayor Myron B. Gessaman's proposal to arbitrate a strike of trolley car and motor bus operators today, but suggested it would provide transportation service with police protection.

"Knowing that you share with me the feeling that transportation service should be resumed at the earliest possible moment, and believing, as I do, that the cooperation of the city is essential to uninterrupted service, I await from you your assurance that this cooperation will be extended to the company, its employees and the traveling public," Ben W. Marr, utility president, wrote Gessaman.

Marr, when asked if his letter was a request for police protection, replied:

"What else would we ask for?"

"The mayor has butted into this trouble. If he wants cars operated why not say he will do his job and afford proper police protection?"

Marr, commenting on union demands for wage increases and a closed shop, said: "Obviously, it is unreasonable to expect the company to comply with these two demands."

Gessaman suggested that service in Ohio's transportation crippled capital be resumed pending arbitration and union officials said they would be glad to arbitrate, but Marr declared:

"I am obliged respectfully to decline your arbitration proposal."

Attempting to placate the opposing factions, U. S. Labor Conciliator John L. Connor planned a conference this morning.

WORKS PROGRAM IS DUPLICATED

Senator Glass Says Same Thing Is Possible Under RFC

Harry Hopkins, works progress administrator, testifies before the appropriations committee.

The committee is expected to approve within a few days a bill appropriating $1,250,000,000 for relief from July 1 to Feb. 1, 1939; $450,000,000 for public works grants, and authority for $1,000,000,000 of public works loans.

While the total authorization for public works thus would be $1,450,000,000, Mr. Roosevelt has assured congress that he contemplates using only $1,000,000,000.

Before the Senate

The recommendation for a $50,000,000 increase in civilian conservation corps funds, already approved by the house, was before the senate today and apparently was sure of speedy passage. The President asked this sum to prevent the closing of several camps in June.

The house was expected to double a $100,000,000 appropriation for state highway aid in accordance with the President's suggestion.

The treasury, interested in improving the credit situation, abolished its old "inactive gold account" because of the destabilization of its $1,182,000,000 in gold.

Secretary Morgenthau said, however, he and his aides were considering partial sterilization of any future inrush of foreign gold.

Barbers Examiner Chief Is Arrested

CLEVELAND, April 19.—Benjamin Bontempo, president of the state board of barber examiners, faced arraignment today in police court on a charge of blackmail based on a complaint filed by Joseph Morano, a Cleveland barber, and Detective Nathan Wachs.

Police Capt. John E. Savage, head of the vandal squad, announced that an official of the Journeyman Barbers' union (AFL) would be questioned in connection with the Bontempo investigation.

Morano claimed Bontempo, former secretary of the Cleveland Master Barbers' association, employer affiliate of the AFL, cited and threatened to cite him for sanitary law violations "with intent to compel him to join" the association.

Bontempo, labelling the charge "ridiculous," said "there is no discrimination against non-members of the association. All my records are open to scrutiny."

Savage presented more than a score of written complaints to the police prosecutor prior to the issuance of the warrant.

Neither condemned man showed any trace of emotion as they faced the witnesses from the gallows platform. Neither made a final statement. There was only one woman among the witnesses.

Finance Director Victim of Thieves

COLUMBUS, April 19.—State Director of finance M. Ray Allison reported today the theft of two brief cases, a pen and pencil set and several similar articles from his office on the main floor of the state capitol.

Allison said that burglars forced a window to gain access to the office over the weekend. He said one of the brief cases contained papers dealing with sundry claims against the state.

League of Nations Proposals Filed

GENEVA, April 19.—The Spanish government today requested formally that the subject of "foreign intervention in the Spanish war" be placed on the agenda of the League of Nations council meeting opening May 9.

Britain has asked that the same council session consider the situation in Ethiopia with a view to opening the way for recognition of Italy's east African conquests.

Here and There About Town

Jail Almost Empty

The city jail has been little used for the past week.

The only person arrested over the weekend was a man charged with intoxication. He remained in jail today, awaiting arraignment before Mayor George Harroff, now enroute from Chicago where he participated in the American Bowling tournament.
